From the Study

Galatians 6:7-9 (NIVUK)

⁷ Do not be deceived: God cannot be mocked. A man reaps what he sows. ⁸ Whoever sows to please their flesh, from the flesh will reap destruction; whoever sows to please the Spirit, from the Spirit will reap eternal life. ⁹ Let us not become weary in doing good, for at the proper time we will reap a harvest if we do not give up.

Farmers understand only too well the concept of sowing and reaping, unless you sow the seed you cannot expect to receive a harvest. They also understand that if you sew the wrong seed, or poor-quality seed, you will not get the crop you hoped for. In the same way everything we do will inevitably result in a reaction; doing good things for God will result in good rewards from God, whilst doing bad things will result in losing God's favour.

What we do to others will often dictate how they respond to us; what we say and how we say it will determine the response we receive in return.

Jesus says, "Do to others as you would have them do to you." (Luke 6:31)

Be blessed and be a blessing, this month in the mighty name of Jesus,

Pastor Phil.

Lord Jesus, please help us think and pray before we speak or react; and help us to do to and for others what You would have us do.

Thank You Lord, Amen.

October Update

Harvest is traditionally the time of year when we think about food and provisions, and we thank God for providing the sun and the rain. For giving wisdom and knowledge to those who grow and produce our food. In a general sense, we have so much to be thankful for - food and drink, clothing and comfortable homes, although at the same time, we are increasingly mindful that this is not the same for everyone. As the cost-of-living crisis continues, there are many in the towns and cities across Wales who are struggling to pay for food for their families. The rise of foodbanks and similar schemes is testament to this.

Meanwhile, extreme weather events like floods, droughts and wildfires are destroying vast areas of land across many parts of the world, and often areas where food is produced. Consequently, crops are being wiped out and people are losing their livelihoods practically overnight. Thousands will be thrown further into poverty as a result. As we know accelerating climate change is likely to make these kinds of situations more normal and more frequent and adaptations on how and where to grow crops will have to happen. This has a knock-on effect on us too in the West - food shortages or temporary gaps in the markets force prices to rise, and so we will all experience that.

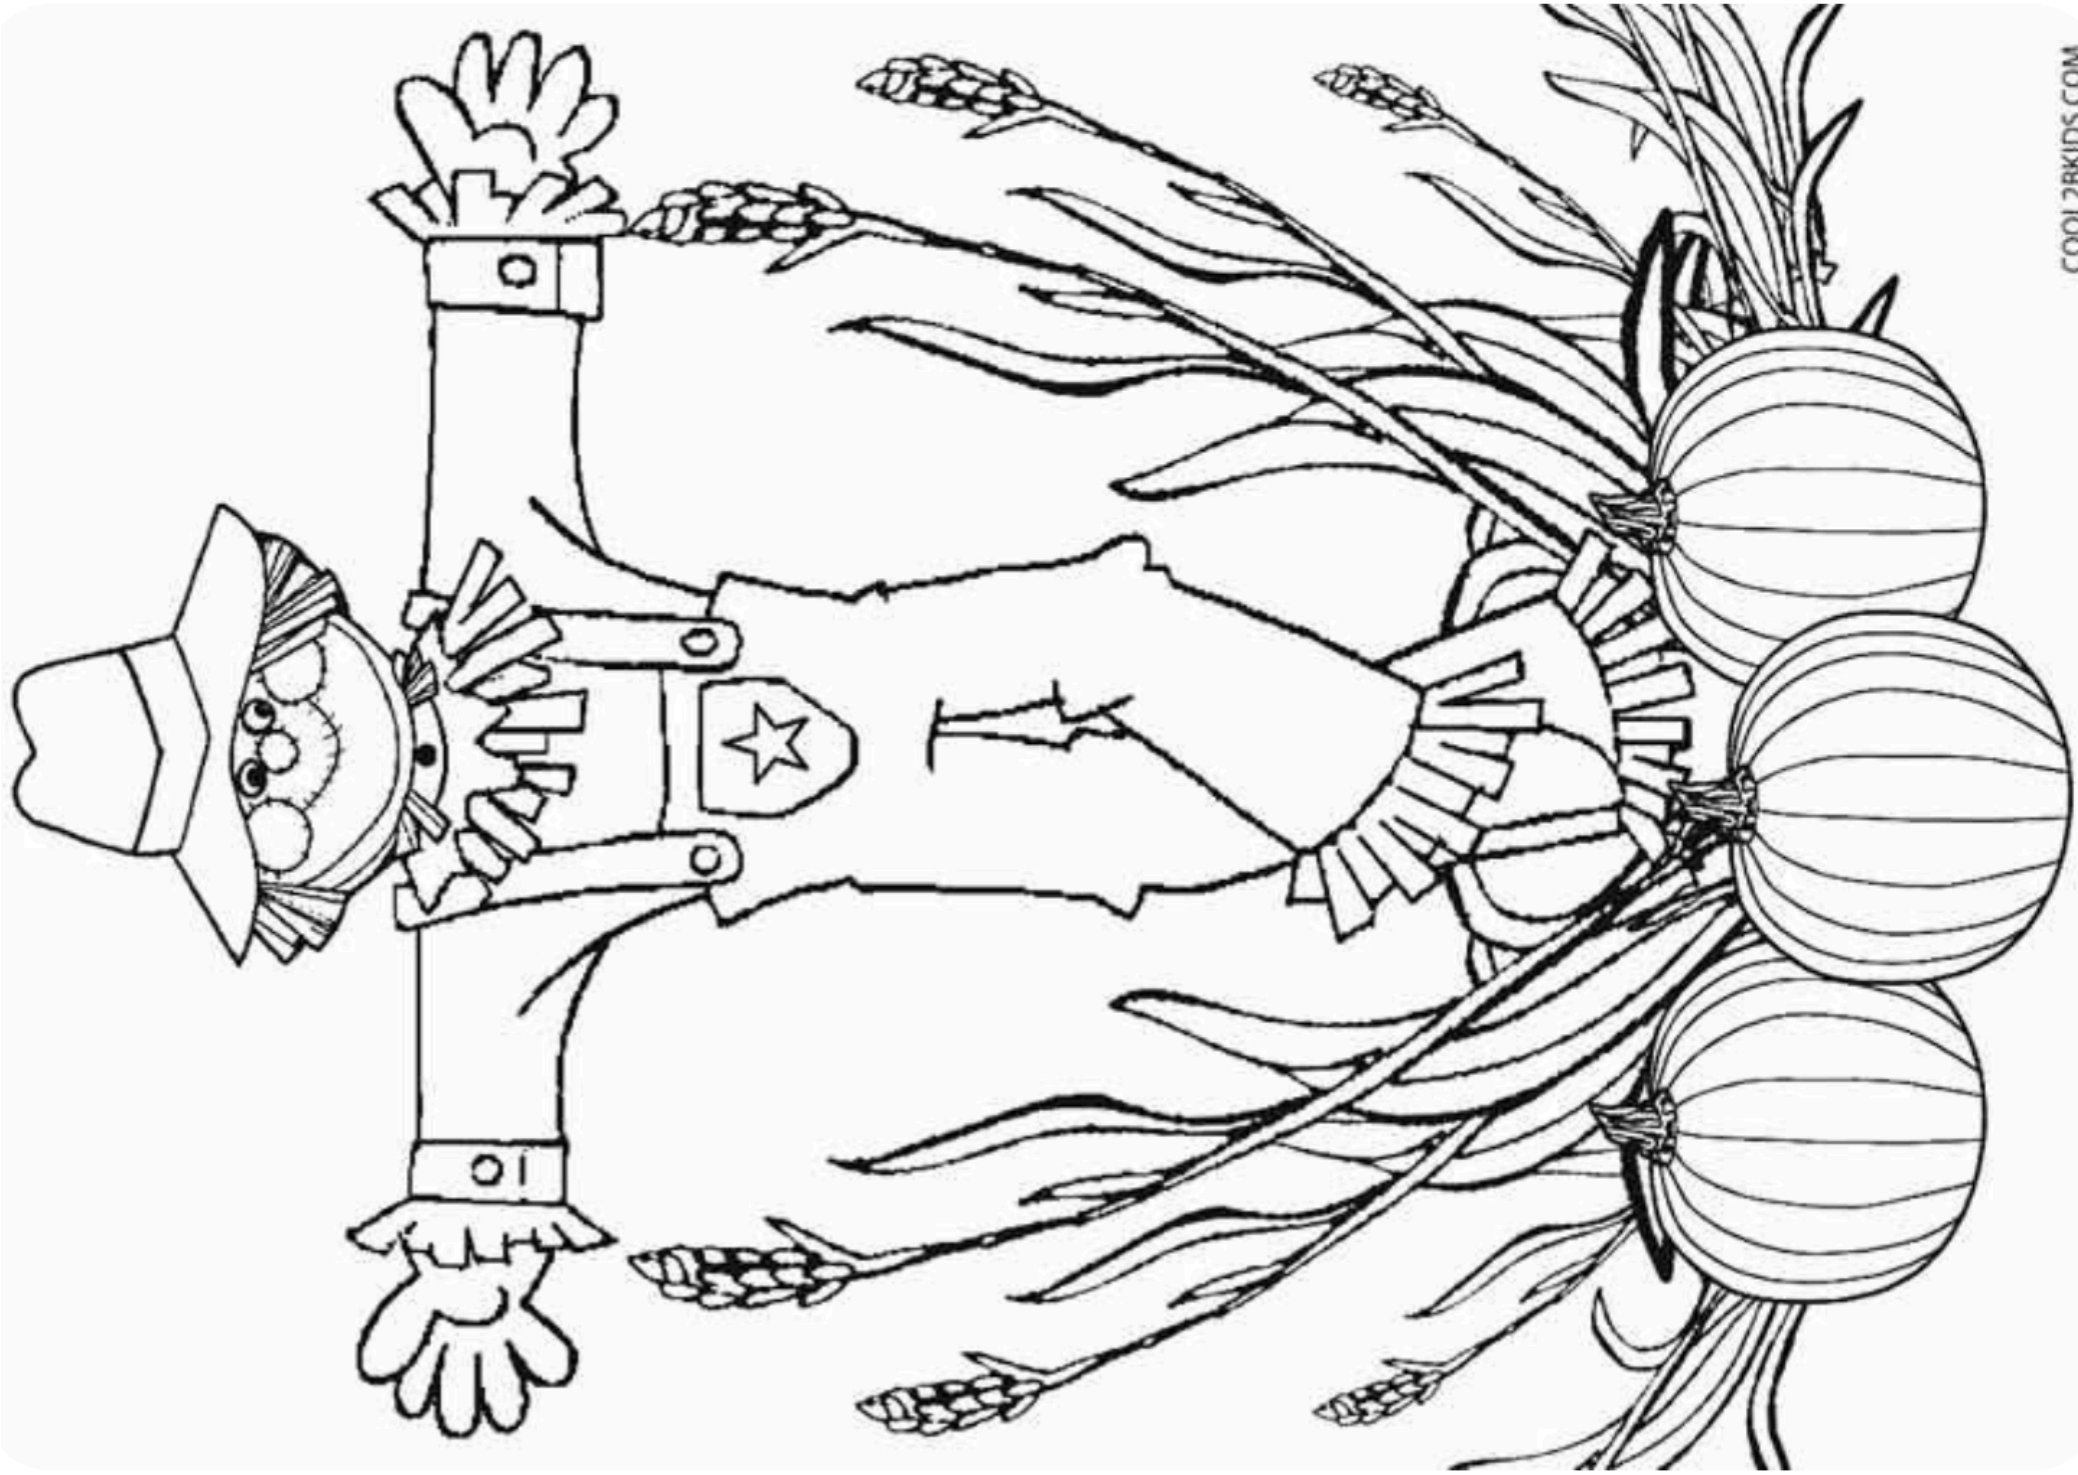

We need to do all we can both as individuals and collectively to live more simply and thoughtfully and 'tread lightly' on the earth.
